CHAPTER TEXT:

LAWS OF NEW YORK, 2010

CHAPTER 481

AN ACT to amend the labor law, the executive law and the workers' compensation law, in relation to establishing regulations regarding employment of domestic workers including hours of labor, wages and employment contracts

Became a law August 31, 2010, with the approval of the Governor.
Passed by a two-thirds vote.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. Legislative findings and intent. Many thousands of domestic workers are employed in New York state as housekeepers, nannies, and companions to the elderly. The labor of domestic workers is central to the ongoing prosperity that the state enjoys, and yet, despite the value of their work, domestic workers do not receive the same protection of many state laws as do workers in other industries. Domestic workers often labor under harsh conditions, work long hours for low wages without benefits or job security, are isolated in their workplaces, and are endangered by sexual harassment and assault, as well as verbal, emotional and psychological abuse. Moreover, many domestic workers in the state of New York are women of color who, because of race and sex discrimination, are particularly vulnerable to unfair labor practices. Additionally, domestic workers are not afforded by law the right to organize labor unions for the purpose of collective bargaining.

The legislature finds that because domestic workers care for the most important elements of their employers' lives, their families and homes, it is in the interest of employees, employers, and the people of the state of New York to ensure that the rights of domestic workers are respected, protected, and enforced.

§ 2. Section 2 of the labor law is amended by adding a new subdivision 16 to read as follows:

16. "Domestic worker" shall mean a person employed in a home or residence for the purpose of caring for a child, serving as a companion for a sick, convalescing or elderly person, housekeeping, or for any other domestic service purpose. "Domestic worker" does not include any individual (a) working on a casual basis, (b) who is engaged in providing companionship services, as defined in paragraph fifteen of subdivision (a) of section 213 of the fair labor standards act of 1938, and who is employed by an employer or agency other than the family or household using his or her services, or (c) who is a relative through blood, marriage or adoption of: (1) the employer; or (2) the person for whom the worker is delivering services under a program funded or administered by federal, state or local government.

§ 3. The executive law is amended by adding a new section 296-b to read as follows:

§ 296-b. Unlawful discriminatory practices relating to domestic workers. 1. For the purposes of this section: "Domestic workers" shall have the meaning set forth in section two of the labor law.

EXPLANATION--Matter in italics is new; matter in brackets [-] is old law to be omitted.

CHAP. 481

2. It shall be an unlawful discriminatory practice for an employer to:

(a) Engage in unwelcome sexual advances, requests for sexual favors, or other verbal or physical conduct of a sexual nature to a domestic worker when: (i) submission to such conduct is made either explicitly or implicitly a term or condition of an individual's employment; (ii) submission to or rejection of such conduct by an individual is used as the basis for employment decisions affecting such individual; or (iii) such conduct has the purpose or effect of unreasonably interfering with an individual's work performance by creating an intimidating, hostile, or offensive working environment.

(b) Subject a domestic worker to unwelcome harassment based on gender, race, religion or national origin, where such harassment has the purpose or effect of unreasonably interfering with an individual's work performance by creating an intimidating, hostile, or offensive working environment.

§ 4. Subdivisions 5 and 6 of section 292 of the executive law, subdivision 5 as amended by chapter 851 of the laws of 1965 and subdivision 6 as amended by chapter 166 of the laws of 2000, are amended to read as follows:

5. The term "employer" does not include any employer with fewer than four persons in his or her employ except as set forth in section two hundred ninety-six-b of this title.

6. The term "employee" in this article does not include any individual employed by his or her parents, spouse or child, or in the domestic service of any person except as set forth in section two hundred ninety-six-b of this title.

§ 5. Subdivision 3 of section 160 of the labor law is amended to read as follows:

3. For all other employees, except those engaged in farm [~~or domestic service~~] work and those affected by subdivision four of section two hundred [~~and~~] twenty of this chapter, eight hours.

§ 6. The labor law is amended by adding a new section 170 to read as follows:

§ 170. Hours of labor for domestic workers. No person or corporation employing a domestic worker as defined in subdivision sixteen of section two of this chapter, shall require any domestic worker to work more than forty hours in a week, or forty-four hours in a week for domestic workers who reside in the home of their employer; unless they receive compensation for overtime work at a rate which is at least one and one-half times the worker's normal wage rate.

§ 7. Subdivision 1 of section 161 of the labor law is amended by adding a new undesignated paragraph to read as follows:

Every person employed as a domestic worker as defined in subdivision sixteen of section two of this chapter, shall be allowed at least twenty-four consecutive hours of rest in each and every calendar week. No provision of this paragraph shall prohibit a domestic worker from voluntarily agreeing to work on such day of rest required by this paragraph, provided that the worker is compensated at the overtime rate for all hours worked on such day of rest. The day of rest authorized under this subdivision should, whenever possible, coincide with the traditional day reserved by the domestic worker for religious worship. In addition, after one year of work with the same employer a domestic worker shall be entitled to at least three days of rest in each calendar year at the regular rate of compensation.

§ 8. Subdivision 5 of section 651 of the labor law, as amended by chapter 640 of the laws of 2005, is amended to read as follows:

5. "Employee" includes any individual employed or permitted to work by an employer in any occupation, but shall not include any individual who is employed or permitted to work: (a) on a casual basis in service as a part time baby sitter in the home of the employer [~~; or someone who lives in the home of an employer for the purpose of serving as a companion to a sick, convalescing or elderly person, and whose principal duties do not include housekeeping~~]; (b) in labor on a farm; (c) in a bona fide executive, administrative, or professional capacity; (d) as an outside salesman; (e) as a driver engaged in operating a taxicab; (f) as a volunteer, learner or apprentice by a corporation, unincorporated association, community chest, fund or foundation organized and operated exclusively for religious, charitable or educational purposes, no part of the net earnings of which inures to the benefit of any private shareholder or individual; (g) as a member of a religious order, or as a duly ordained, commissioned or licensed minister, priest or rabbi, or as a sexton, or as a christian science reader; (h) in or for such a religious or charitable institution, which work is incidental to or in return for charitable aid conferred upon such individual and not under any express contract of hire; (i) in or for such a religious, educational or charitable institution if such individual is a student; (j) in or for such a religious, educational or charitable institution if the earning capacity of such individual is impaired by age or by physical or mental deficiency or injury; (k) in or for a summer camp or conference of such a religious, educational or charitable institution for not more than three months annually; (l) as a staff counselor in a children's camp; (m) in or for a college or university fraternity, sorority, student association or faculty association, no part of the net earnings of which inures to the benefit of any private shareholder or individual, and which is recognized by such college or university, if such individual is a student; (n) by a federal, state or municipal government or political subdivision thereof. In preparing such report, the commissioner of labor will consult with representatives of domestic workers and individuals and agencies that employ domestic workers, and relevant state agencies including the public employment relations board. The report shall address the feasibility of an employee organization formed in accordance with the State Labor Relations Act, how bargaining units for such organizations could be formed, whether there are any unique issues which arise in this context and whether there are other possible frameworks for collective organization or for ensuring the benefits that accompany organization for domestic workers. The commissioner of labor shall also report, with the assistance of an interagency working group which shall include but not be limited to the chair of the workers' compensation board, the superintendent of insurance, the commissioner of health and the commissioner of economic development, on how best to provide easily accessible educational and informational material for domestic employers and workers. Such material shall cover employment benefits, tax and insurance laws.
